

Parkview Orthopaedic Group celebrates 50 years of unrivaled care

March 15, 2018

Parkview Orthopaedic Group is proud to be named “Best Orthopaedic in the Southwest Suburbs” in the 2018 Southwest Choice Awards. It is truly a fitting honor for this monumental year, as 2018 marks Parkview’s 50th anniversary. Since opening its doors in 1968, Parkview Orthopaedic Group has provided quality, state-of-the-art, and comprehensive orthopaedic care to Chicago’s southwest suburbs.

As one of the longest established orthopaedic groups in the area, Parkview’s vital presence in the community speaks for itself. The ability to provide the highest quality orthopaedic care comes from the expertise and compassion of its eighteen physicians. With surgeons who are fellowship-trained in many subspecialties of orthopaedics—including sports medicine, joint replacement, spinal surgery, hand, wrist and elbow surgery, and foot and ankle surgery—patients can rest assured they are receiving the most specialized and focused care. Two pain management doctors, a neurologist who conducts EMG and nerve testing, and a rheumatologist complete the group. Parkview is equipped to diagnose and treat any and all joint-related problems, and with over 68,000 visits seen in 2017, the physicians are well-practiced in doing so. Most importantly, they match their expertise with an equal amount of compassion and empathy. The time and personal attention that every Parkview physician gives to his or her patients demonstrate what it really means to provide quality care.

What has defined Parkview Orthopaedic Group over the past fifty years is its ability to pair this excellent care with state-of-the-art techniques. Staying on top of the most cutting-edge medical technology has always been a priority at Parkview. They understand that new advancements in medicine are critical to patients who want to maintain their quality of life and return to the activities they love. Technologies such as robotic-assisted surgery and minimally-invasive techniques make that possible, as they often mean a shorter and less painful recovery for patients. Parkview Orthopaedic Group’s expert physicians are also on the forefront of several innovative procedures. Some of the techniques mastered by their surgeons include advanced arthroscopic shoulder and knee surgery, total ankle replacement for severe arthritis, and high-tech hip, knee and shoulder replacements.

The knowledge and expertise of Parkview physicians is unmatched, but they also strive to provide their patients with the most convenient care possible. What this means at Parkview is providing a “one stop shop” where patients can be diagnosed and treated under one roof. With five office locations, in Palos Heights, New Lenox, Mokena, Oak Lawn and Joliet, Parkview serves a wide expanse of patients throughout the southwest suburbs. And each location boasts x-ray imaging services, as well as a physical therapy gym. MRI suites are available in Palos Heights and New Lenox, with the option of either an open or wide bore machine to accommodate patients more comfortably during their testing. This comprehensive medical environment ensures patients convenience and an optimal treatment program.

At Parkview Orthopaedic Group, patients don’t have to decide between quality, state-of-the-art, and comprehensive orthopaedic care. For fifty years, Parkview has been providing it all.

Dr. Wardell, Dr. Price & Director of Operations Eric Pertzborn accept the Southwest Choice Award for Best Orthopaedic Group.