Dr. Kevin Luke is a board certified orthopaedic surgeon who specializes in joint replacement, treatment of complex fractures and trauma. He serves as an attending surgeon at Advocate Christ Medical Center and Palos Community Hospital. Dr. Luke also holds academic appointments as a Clinical Assistant Professor at the University of Illinois at Chicago and an Instructor in Orthopaedic Surgery at the Chicago College of Osteopathic Medicine.

Dr. Luke's research efforts have resulted in numerous publications and have led to presentations and lectures on a national and international level. Dr. Luke has assisted in the design, development and testing of multiple orthopaedic trauma implants and continues to serve as a consultant for leading orthopaedic companies. A recipient of numerous awards, he currently serves as the Medical Director of the Bone & Joint Institute and the Residency Program Director for the Department of Orthopaedic Surgery at Advocate Christ Medical Center. Dr. Luke served as one of the team physicians for the Chicago White Sox from 1989 until 2003.

As the Medical Director of the Bone and Joint Institute at Advocate Christ Medical Center, Dr. Luke has assisted in the establishment of pre-operative, intra-operative and post-operative protocols to improve the hospital's overall benchmarks including patient satisfaction, length of stay and cost reduction.

COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE

Dr. Luke's experience and commitment to clinical excellence shape his approach to care. He focuses on individualized treatment plans for patients to fit their unique lifestyles and injury patterns. In conjunction with his greater than 20 years of clinical experience, he works with his patients to establish appropriate treatment regimens and realistic expectations to improve the quality of their lives. This approach has led to optimal patient outcomes.
